#HackMedTech

October 6th to 29th, 2020

Location: Virtual

Overview of HackMedTech: HackMedTech is a 4-week innovation hackathon to build solutions for real world challenges faced by the medical technology industry. University level students from Ryerson and McGill will explore, connect, and solve problems over the course of 4 weeks. Groups will present to judges and the winning solution will be announced live on October 29th, 2020.

Location: Virtual

- Videos and resources will be available through Talent LMS. All students will be given access via email.
- Contact for scheduling / calendar invitations: jesse.ehrlick@mcgill.ca

Please do the following before the start of the Hackathon (October 6th):

1. Check your email for a welcome package and more information, including:
 - Your group members and their contact information, and
 - An 'icebreaker' form to be submitted by one group representative
2. Accept calendar invitations for live events

Make sure you have access to:

- A computer and a stable internet connection
- The preferred mode of communication as decided by your team (e.g. Zoom, Microsoft Teams, Google Meet, Slack...)
